Aki Kawashita

(dance educator, dancer)

Since encountered dance while at Osaka University of Health and Sport Science, Kawashita has been working for activities to connect dance and people with disabilities. She also holds workshops for instructors such as childminders, teachers and welfare service workers.

Integrated Dance Company Kyo

Established in 2014 with dancers using wheelchairs. Their activities such as workshops and performances held with diverse people draw big attention as the one connecting arts and society. Current works: "Dance workshop with people with/ without disabilities" (Kanagawa Arts Theatre, 2014), Performances: "les gens de tokyo" (choreographed by Didier Theron, 2017), "Kaburieru" (choreographed by Shintaro Hirahara, 2018) and others.

About Tokyo Shibuya Koen-dori Gallery

Tokyo Shibuya Koen-dori Gallery was provisionally opened in Jinnan, Shibuya-ku in 2017. In cooperation with the Tokyo Metropolitan Government, it has been exploring ways to promote an inclusive society through projects to introduce works by creators from various backgrounds. The gallery is temporarily closed for renovation and scheduled to reopen by the end of FY 2019.
